BECOME A NATIONAL LANGUAGE SERVICE CORPS CLIENT

You represent a Federal, state or local government agency and you may be wondering how you can use the National Language Service Corps (NLSC). Our goal is to meet your unexpected and/or urgent needs for individuals who are skilled in speaking, listening and reading in English and other languages, and we specialize in the less-common languages.

WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU

Our highly proficient Members fulfill specific unplanned temporary needs in multiple languages, one of which is always English. We can deploy our Members down the street or overseas, wherever they are needed. Such scenarios include:

Filling short-term, intermittent or one-time language needs, such as supporting first-responders involved in natural disasters affecting non-English speaking communities

- Filling unfunded manpower requirements for language needs that arise only occasionally and with brief durations, where keeping a linguist on-staff is not cost-effective

Some of our Members are available for longer-term projects.

OUR MEMBERS HAVE ALREADY:

- Assisted the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention with non-English web pages
- Served as interpreters for the US Army Pacific (USARPAC) in Thailand and Indonesia for humanitarian and training exercises
- Translated critical presentations and documents for the Department of Defense (DoD) and other USG agencies
- Transcribed audio tapes into English for the National Virtual Translation Center

We do all we can to meet the needs of our client agencies, including recruit Members to meet specific language requirements.

HOW TO START

We want to be able to assist with as short a turnaround time as possible. So if you think you might use us in the future, you should establish a formal relationship between the NLSC and your agency today. Joining forces with the National Language Service Corps requires preparation. This involves setting up an agreement and an account with the NLSC.

Once that's done, submit a Mission Support Request (MSR) to define the assignment and your language requirements, as needed. Our client liaison will guide you through the process.
